

Alaska Fish
Habitat Partnerships

Partnering on behalf of Alaska's wild, native fish and their habitats.

Who we are

Alaska Fish Habitat Partnerships (AKFHP) is a group of six partnerships that are recognized under the umbrella of the National Fish Habitat Partnership, a national network of locally-driven, voluntary, and non-regulatory collaboratives.

What we do

AKFHP engages diverse partners to protect, maintain, restore and enhance fish habitat throughout Alaska.

Why it matters

Alaska's fish and their habitats are a global treasure; they sustain our indigenous cultures, fuel our economy and are the backbone of a revered way of life. Unlike many places in the world, Alaska has the benefit of wild and abundant fish populations supported by vast, connected, healthy habitats. It is our responsibility to ensure they remain and thrive in the future.

Partnerships

Kenai Peninsula Fish Habitat Partnership

kenaifishpartnership.org

Matanuska-Susitna Basin Salmon Habitat Partnership

matsusalmon.org

Pacific Lamprey Conservation Initiative

pacificlamprey.org

Southeast Alaska Fish Habitat Partnership

seakfhp.org

Southwest Alaska Salmon Habitat Partnership

southwestsalmon.org

Western Native Trout Initiative

westernnativetrout.org

For more info, please visit alaskafishhabitat.org